

Hello Year 1,

It made my week being able to speak to some of you last week! I loved hearing what you have been up to and how hard you have all been working. For those of you I didn't get to speak to, don't worry! I'll call back again in a couple of weeks and hopefully we can catch up then 😊. Also, you should now all have Class Dojo! I am very excited about this as it means we can stay in touch all of the time! You can share your amazing work and ask questions if you don't understand! Myself and Mrs Holliday will try our best to get back to you as soon as we can. In addition, don't forget to write comments on your work on Purple Mash because they make me so happy (I have also just found out you can also send voice recordings – I'd love it if you could do this too!).

You may have also noticed that we now have virtual certificates!!! It is even a competition to win a £20 Amazon voucher – WOW! Continue to work your socks off and blow mine off by sharing your work with me! If you do, I'll award you with these fantastic certificates. See if you can collect all ten! I'm sure you all can.

Take care, polar bear!

Love from Miss Hassan

P.S. Last week, I set you a task of planting some seeds. Here are some of mine... I'm super excited to put basil and chili on my pizzas!

Maths

Keep watching the Bitesize Daily Lessons videos for maths. Remember to complete the activities in your home learning book. <https://whiterosemaths.com/homelearning/year-1/>

Day 1: Part-whole relationships
number bonds

Day 2: Fact families - linking addition and subtraction

Day 3: Add together to find a part

Day 4: Add more and count on within 20

Day 5: Number Bonds to 10

I don't know about you, but I have missed keeping my mind and body in shape! So today, I want you to get fit and have some fun...

Reading and writing

Remember to keep up with your phonics learning and watch the daily lesson if you can. The details are on our virtual School page.

Day 1: Choose a story from Sacristo-nory. Before watching the video, think about what might happen and discuss this with your adult. After watching the story, try and answer these questions:
Who are the characters in the story? Where is the setting?
What happens in the beginning / middle / end of the story?
Did you like the story? Why?
Why not?

Day 2: Act out the story which you watched yesterday (you might want to watch it again today). Ask your family to act it out with you and try to include all of the key events.

Day 3: Create a story map including a beginning, middle and end. Include fantastic vocabulary which you can use when you write your story. Remember, you don't need to write sentences here, just exciting vocabulary.
I have set you a to do on Purple Mash
or you can just use paper.
Whichever you prefer!

Day 4: Write your story! Follow your story map and write a sentence to describe the beginning, the middle and the end.
Include as much detail as you can but don't forget to include your capital letters, full stops and finger spaces.

Day 5: Publish your story! I have set another to do on Purple Mash (create a story). Use this to share your story with me!
Remember you can turn the page to continue your story!
I can't wait to read them 😊

Science, Technology, Engineering and Maths (STEM)

Are you up for a lockdown engineering challenge? I want to see you transform your loo roll tubes into engineering masterpieces!

Show off your engineering prowess by building a structure using cardboard tubes – you could build a bridge, a model building, a marble run, a miniature playground or any structure you can think of! You can also incorporate paper, cardboard and other embellishments too if you like.

Post a photo of your loo roll construction with the hashtag #whizzpopbangloorollengineering or email it to y@whizzpopbang.com with the subject 'Loo roll engineering' and you could win 12 Whizz Pop Bang magazines, plus an awesome binder to put them all in! The competition is open to all ages and whole families are encouraged to build together. The competition is open until 31st May, which should give you some time to build up your loo roll collections!

PSHE

Remember, remember

Play Kim's game. Kim's game is a classic game for developing memory skills. Find a range of everyday items and place them on a tray. Then close your eyes and ask someone to remove one item. After the item is removed, look carefully to spot what has been taken.

Can you remember what was there and what has been removed? Talk about how you try to remember all the things on the tray.

History

VE DAY celebrations (Friday 8th May 2020)

Victory in Europe Day. The day the Allied victory in Europe was celebrated; May 8, 1945.

Find out about VE day and why it is so important. Although you can't have a street party, this doesn't mean you can't celebrate within the safe bubble of your own home. Create your own bunting and learn the song 'We'll Meet Again by Vera Lynn'.

PE

You have all been working extremely hard completing either your Joe Wicks PE sessions or your Avengers Training. Keep it up! https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=EbFxiX_H58

This week, I also want to share one of my hobbies with you. I love yoga and I want you to try it too to see if you also enjoy it. On YouTube there is a channel called 'Cosmic Yoga' which has lots of fun videos to get you moving as well as lots of calm and relaxing videos. See if you can complete the yoga poses in these videos!

Try something new...

Brain break

Whilst I absolutely love seeing how hard you've all been working, don't forget that it's also important to give your brain a break every now and again. We need to keep our minds and bodies healthy!

This week I want you to try 'The Penguin Dance'. See if you can follow along and keep up with the growing pattern. Do you remember which is your right side and which is your left? Can you follow directions by listening carefully? Have fun my penguin friends ☺
